Columbus Durham, when Corresponding Secretary of the State Convention, performed a service for the Baptists of the State, which must last through all time. He gathered the minutes of the Chowan Association from 1806 to 1845, and had them bound and placed in the Mission Rooms. He then collected the minutes of the State Convention from its organization and had them neatly bound, that they might be preserved. In this work he was assisted by brethren John E. Ray and N. B. Cobb, and many of the elect, both men and women, rendered valuable aid by sending copies of the minutes which they had in their possession. Indeed, Mr. Ray began the work of collecting the minutes, but Dr. Durham had the first volume bound. I have been reading this glorious history at odd times,...
