Excerpt: .Moray Frith, along the coast to the Kyle of Tongue. The captain of the Hazard, finding that he could not escape from the man of war, ran his vessel aground on the sands below Melness, where the larger vessel could not follow. The money, which was in boxes, was safely landed, and the crew hoped to be able to march with their treasure to Inverness. They expected, also, that the country people would befriend them. But Captain Mackay, when he learned what had taken place, got together some other officers of the militia regiment and about 80 men, and attacked those who had landed from the Hazard. After a sharp engagement in which five of the Hazard s men were killed, and several wounded, Captain Mackay s company took the remainder--156 in number, mostly Frenchmen--prisoners, and secured also the money, amounting to upwards of;...
