The second, The Medicine Man, now in Fairmount Park, Philadelphia, represents the red man's suspicion of the white invader. The third, Protest, shown at the St. Louis Exposition, represents the warfare of tribesman against settler. The fourth, The Appeal to the Great Spirit, represents surrender, not to human enemies, but a higher friend. An Indian horseman drops the rope halter that guides his mount, lifts his face to the sky and spreads his arms in a movement of invocation. The racial tragedy in which our national life began is completely rendered by the four. The work may be said to have had its source in the boyhood of the artist. By a happy chance there was a sculptor born in Utah, a long day's ride from the Great Salt Lake, at a time when the houses were log cabins...

Reviews

An exceptional pdf and the typeface utilized was fascinating to read through. It can be written in straightforward words and phrases instead of confusing. I am just quickly could possibly get a delight of looking at a written ebook.

-- Prof. Arlie Bogan

It is in a single of the best book. This is for those who state there had not been a well worth reading through. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.
